Irma Hockey Team Gas Line Champs

The third hockey game in the play-off for the Gas Line League trophy between Tofield and Irma was played in Irma on Thursday, March 6th.

Owing to very poor ice it was impossible to play a good game, about half the rink being covered with slush. At times the hockey sticks were used more like spades to dig the puck out of the slush. However the game was played and was won by the Irma team by a large margin, the score being 10-1.

Apparently the Tofield goalies had an off night while Yeoman in goal for Irma stopped some hard shots. Morrison and R. Maguire each scored one goal in the first period after plowing through the slush. The other eight goals were scattered thru the second and third periods. Altogether Morrison scored two goals, A. Lawson 3, R. Maguire four and F. Maguire one.

McCauley scored Tofield's only goal in the third period. A minor penalty to L. Glover of Tofield in the first period was the only one handed out during the evening. Mr. Ken. Hillier of Viking, was the referee.

Line-up: Tofield—Bowick, L. Glover, N. Glover, McCauley, Worton, Martin, Hannan, J. Bowick, Allen and Swinton. Irma—Yeoman, Fischer, Sharkey, Martin, R. Maguire, F. Maguire, Morrison, Sweline and Lawson.

The fourth play-off game was played in Tofield, Saturday evening, 7th of March, and resulted in the third win for Irma, score 4-2, who were then declared the champions for this year.

The cup was brought home that evening and is on display in the hardware store and also the Dawson cup which was won a year ago.

GLENDALE CLUB

The above club met at the home of Mrs. Whiteley on Wednesday afternoon, March 4th. Opening song, Come Along. The roll-call was answered by an Irish joke of verse. A program by members was as follows: Reading, Mrs. Whiteley; Accordion solo, Mrs. Vallee; Reading, Mrs. Hudson; Recitation, Mrs. New; Song, by Mrs. Whiteley. A contest was won by Mrs. Parsons and a raffle was won by Mrs. Vallee. A committee was appointed to draw up a program for the next three months, being Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Vallee and Mrs. Goodwin. Mrs. Parsons was welcomed as a new member. Current events and the closing song brought another pleasant afternoon to a close, after which a most appetizing lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held on April 1st, at the home of Mrs. Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers and Miss Kippen visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Shotts on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. New, Mrs. Whiteley and Mrs. Goodwin visited at the Parsons home on Sunday afternoon.

Spring must be here at last. Mr. R. L. Shotts and Mr. S. M. New were seen around last week.

A lady on the Alliance train asked the conductor about hotel accommodations at a little town up the line where she expected to get off.

"There ain't a hotel there," the conductor said, "but you can sleep with the station agent."

"Sir!" she exclaimed, "I'll have you to know that I'm a lady."

"That's all right," drawled the conductor, "so it the station agent."

NEWS ITEMS FROM JARROW

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Wm. McNall died in the Viking hospital Tuesday morning of this week. The funeral service was held in the Jarow United church on Thursday afternoon. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. W. Griffith.

The late Mrs. Margaret Miles McNall was born in Proton, Ontario, on July 3rd, 1911. April 26th, 1928, she was united in marriage to Mr. William McNall. To this marriage four children were born, two of whom are still living. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. W. H. Barton and little daughter will arrive in Jarow the first of the week, after a brief visit with the former's parents in England.

Mr. Paul Loring received the sad news that his mother had passed away last Monday. Mr. Loring left by train Monday evening for the state of Washington to attend the funeral.

Members of the Ladies' Aid of Irma under the auspices of the Jarow Ladies' Aid, will present their play, "Mr. Bob" at the Community hall on Friday evening, March 20th.

The Board of Trade held its annual meeting at the Community hall Tuesday evening of this week. The following officers were elected for the year: President, R. W. Griffith; Vice-President, W. Boyd; Secretary, A. Harper; Treasurer, E. J. Kell.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to my many friends for faithful services rendered and for expressions of sympathy extended during my recent bereavement.

—Wm. McNALL.

Kinsella Kernels.

Mr. Taylor was visiting in Irma over the weekend.

Miss Marion Watson of Green-shields spent the week-end with her parents here.

Miss Kathleen Ferries returned to the city Monday after a week with her parents here.

Miss Isobel McKie went to Edmonton on Saturday, where she will spend a month with friends.

Mrs. J. E. Fleming of Coronation is spending the week with her daughter, Miss D. Fleming.

Mrs. Chas. Turnbull, north of town, is spending the week with Mrs. B. Wachter in Kinsella.

Mrs. C. Smoagard spent a couple of days in Viking last week.

Mrs. Claud Wachter of Edmonton was a guest of Mrs. B. Wachter one day last week.

The Kinsella Women's Institute will hold their annual St. Patrick's dance in Lee's hall on Friday, March 20th. Everyone invited. Admission will be 25c for all over 14 and 10c for all under. Lunch included.

We are sorry to report that O. Watson Jr. was taken to Viking hospital Sunday and on Tuesday was transferred to the University hospital in Edmonton. We all wish him the best of success.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Davis are the proud parents of a 9 pound baby boy.

Miss Edith Watson spent the week-end at her home here.

"Down where I live," said the Texan, "we grew a pumpkin so big that when we cut it my wife used one half for a cradle."

"Well," smiled the man from Chicago, "that's nothing. A few days ago, right here, two full-grown policemen were found asleep on one beat."

As Seen From Press Gallery In Capital

Edmonton, March 9.—(Press Gallery)—The past week was one of hectic interest and witnessed one or two of the most significant happenings during the present session of the legislature in Alberta.

In the first place the long expected Social Credit enabling bill was introduced in the house by Premier Aberhart. It was not the controversial instrument it had been expected to be, being in its general principle simply the authority for making a complete study of Social Credit, to employ experts to advise on the system and instituting of it, and it contains no powers which are not at present in the possession of the government through the medium of public accounts and agricultural committees. It will be remembered that the U.F.A. government during the last session invited Major C. H. Douglas to come to Alberta and act as special reconstruction adviser with a view to finding a suitable plan of Social Credit for the province. The new bill only gives the legislature or government power to do the same thing.

Discussion on the principle of the bill will take place when it comes up for second reading and on its details during the passage through committee. Opposition members are likely to point out that, in their opinion, the measure is only a gesture to the government's supporters.

Of course, the real intent and powers of the Social Credit bill will not be fully known until the government has had a chance to explain their views on these features, and it is not to be supposed Premier Aberhart and his advisers have taken any mere empty gesture as a step in the direction of implementing the government's main aim and promise.

The legislature and the city was thrown into ferment on Thursday, when an Edmonton newspaper published an exclusive story from London, giving details of Major C. H. Douglas' ultimatum to Premier Aberhart and his cabinet as to the conditions on which he would consent to continue his work as reconstruction adviser to the government. These conditions were:

1. Cancellation of new taxation announced in last Monday's budget.
2. Substitution of an interim budget on last year's basis.
3. Rejection of the dominion-provincial loan council plan.

A caucus of Social Credit members was called for Thursday night to consider a reply to Major Douglas, but before it could meet, and before Premier Aberhart had an opportunity of laying the Douglas terms before his supporters in the legislature, the London economist announced his terms in London.

The Social Credit caucus decided Friday night to make one more effort to have Major Douglas come to Alberta for the purpose of advising the government on the institution of Social Credit. A cable was sent to the London engineer saying, "Cannot discuss details by cable. Await your reply regarding arrival March 30."

Premier Aberhart in enlarging on this situation said Saturday: "Until we have further explanation of Major Douglas' suggestions we cannot give them satisfactory consideration. We think the only way Major Douglas can be of help to us is to come here. His cable would make it appear that he is not informed fully on the situation in Alberta."

And that is where the matter stands at the moment of writing.

There now seems to be no likelihood that the session will end before the 25th of March, at earliest. Premier Aberhart himself suggested that date as the likeliest one. There are still some important matters to come before the members although considerable legislation has been dealt with. The budget debate continues Monday and may last even longer and then there are the Social Credit Bill, Re-Call Bill and Education Bill, all controversial measures to be put through the various stages required before being finally passed.

The session has certainly been the most interesting and outstanding for years so far and it promises to continue so to the end.

New Prospective Oil Area In Vicinity of Wainwright

Discovery of a new prospective oil structure, which has even more favorable features than the Wainwright-Ribstone oil fields between which it is located, is revealed in a preliminary report issued by the geological survey of the department of mines at Ottawa, it is revealed here.

Wells commenced in the valley of the Battle river, where the new structure was disclosed, probably will reach oil producing horizons at depths of less than 2,000 feet, the report states.

The new structure, known as the Battleview anticline, was disclosed in the course of an examination in 1935 of a large area in central-eastern Alberta and western Saskatchewan which was carried out under the supervision of Dr. G. S. Hume who had general charge of three parties working in this part of the province.

It occurs in township 47, range 5 and 6, and is intermediate in position between the Wainwright oil field on the west and the Ribstone structure on the east.

In view of the spurt in filling on oil and gas leases in this province by reason of the changes made in lands and mines department regulations in order to encourage development, it is anticipated that there will be special interest in the new structure disclosed by Dr. Hume's report.

Here Is the Social Credit Bill You've Waited For

1. This Act may be cited as "The Social Credit Measures Act."
2. It is hereby declared that the people of the Province are entitled to the full benefit of the increment arising from their association.
3. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is authorized to appoint such persons as are considered fit and proper:
 - (a) to examine into, consider, investigate and formulate proposals having for their object the increase of the purchasing power of the consumer by means of social dividends, compensating discounts or by any other means; and the payment to the producer of any commodity of a just price and the allowance to any dealer in a commodity of a fair commission on turnover, and for such purposes to ascertain all necessary facts relating thereto, and to report to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council as to the feasibility of applying any such proposal or any modification thereof having regard to the economic circumstances of the Province and of the various business, industries, trades and vocations of the people of the province.
 - (b) to inquire into and investigate the prevailing circumstances and conditions of all or any specified businesses, industries, trades and vocations and to ascertain whether, and if so to what extent any of such circumstances and conditions, or either of them, operate to the disadvantage or detriment of the Province as a whole or to any class or category of persons in the Province, and to report thereon to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.
4. Any persons appointed pursuant to this Act shall be appointed upon such terms and conditions, at such remuneration and subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.
5. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council may confer upon any person so appointed or by a subsequent order, the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents as may be conferred upon a commissioner appointed pursuant to The Public Inquiries Act.
6. For the purpose of making any inquiry authorized by this Act, every person appointed pursuant to this Act for the purpose of making any inquiry shall be entitled to examine upon oath such persons as he may in his discretion think proper.
7. No provision of this Act shall be construed as to authorize the doing of any act or thing which is not within the legislative competence of the Legislative Assembly.
8. This Act shall come into force on the day upon which it is assented to.

United Church Notes

The Trail Rangers at their meeting on Tuesday evening decided to have a father and son banquet, and the date was fixed for the Tuesday following Easter, April 14th. An earlier convenient date was not available on account of other events. Dads please take note, and keep the date open, for there will also be a "feast of reason and flow of soul".

After a period of decreased attendance, owing to severe weather conditions and prevailing epidemics, the Sunday school is "catching up" again. Over 100 have been present the past two Sundays. Last Sunday the superintendent, Mr. I. S. Reeds, made an interesting announcement regarding a new series just being commenced in "Onward", by the great Japanese evangelist and social worker, Toyohiko Kagawa, entitled "A Grain of Wheat". This is just a reminder to be sure and read it. Save your copies of the paper and pass them on to others.

A small booklet for Lenten reading in connection with the Fellowship of Prayer, entitled "Building a Christian World" by Raymond C. Brooks, has recently come to hand. It is devotional in spirit, as it should be; but at the same time it turns the searchlight of Christian Truth upon the evils of our times. It is at once a call to prayer and a challenge to service, and shows that personal consecration is the indispensable prelude to Christian adventure. A few brief quotations will be found enlightening and stimulating. "Religion has at times been too exclusively concerned with the individual. It may become too exclusively concerned with social welfare. Unless religion begins with the transformation of the individual, it does not begin. If it ends with the individual, it ends." "One day civilization turned the corner, and ran into Jesus of Nazareth. Now we know that we are not through with any problem until we do our best to bring it up to the level of his mind. Here are the foundations for the new civilization: the spirit of science, the passion of democracy, the faith of Jesus."

"We must learn how to do away with industrial strife, put an end to congested wealth and congested poverty and put an end to unemployment. We must maintain a healthy balance between production and consumption. It is a large contract. Nothing is finally good for the individual which is not good for the society to which he belongs, nor is anything good for society which is not good for the individuals who make up the society. Our social order must be built in harmony with the will of God."

Think these words through, in a devotional spirit, and if they convince you, express your faith in God, by acting them out.

Safeguarding Democracy

"If our democracy is to survive, the whole voting public must be educated, so as to use the rational, scientific mode of approach to all our problems, instead of the emotional, superstitious and 'hunch' mode of approach."

When Dr. Robert Millikin, eminent American physicist and scientist, made this statement recently in a letter read at a congress of the American Institute in New York, he said a great deal in a few words, and while, no doubt, he had social and economic problems as they exist in the United States in mind nevertheless the philosophy contained in his words is equally sound and applicable when considered in the light of the problems and conditions which confront the people of this country.

For no matter what problems exist, and without any limitation of their geographic or ethnologic application, it is axiomatic that they cannot be solved satisfactorily unless the ray of clear reason and logic is focussed upon them rather than a diffused floodlight of passion and emotion. In other words, it is only after the problems which cry aloud for solution have been placed under the microscope and subjected to scientific analysis to determine what they are made of, that it is possible to prescribe an effective cure.

If, on the other hand, people allow their emotions to run away with nobler reflection and sound judgment, no matter how laudable those emotions may be, no matter how fine even the impelling motives, it is a sine qua non, that the conclusion reached will nine times out of ten be wrong and the goal to be achieved further removed and subsequently more difficult to attain. For misdirected effort surely leads to more complicated and most undesirable consequences.

In their turn undesirable consequences can do nothing but promote unrest, dissatisfaction and despair, and when these moods have been induced people are apt to turn to anything that offers in the hope of finding relief, even to the extent of surrendering liberties which have been bought at great cost.

All this, no doubt, Dr. Millikin had back of his mind when he wrote his dictum that the existence of democracy is threatened for the peoples who fail to apply science and reason to the solution of their problems.

This does not by any means contradict the assertion that sentiment and emotion have their part in determining the destinies of individuals and nations. Indeed, not only have they a part to play, but without these forces the world would be a sorry sphere, but they require as a governor, rational thinking and logical decisions, so that they may be directed along right and useful channels.

Once rationalism has pointed the way to the solution of the problems which vex the soul, then is the time to call into play the finer emotions of burning zeal and enthusiasm to enkindle others, and it is a safe assumption that causes lighted from the hearth of incontrovertible fact and entrenched wisdom are those which will ultimately prevail in the minds and hearts of the multitude.

The people of Western Canada have at times been accused of being 'too easily swayed by popular and ephemeral concepts and of swinging to extremes. If there is any truth to the accusation, it is equally true that they are not more prone to do so than the peoples of other lands. For proof, it is only necessary to take note of what is happening in other countries.

Moreover, if at times, the citizens of this country, display an occasional tendency to soar to impractical heights, as they do in other countries it is noticeable that free ventilation and discussion eventually slows down the pendulum to a point where questions can be considered rationally, a tribute to the value of free thought and free speech, rightly regarded as the bulwarks of democracy.

And in this connection it is interesting to note that Dr. Millikin also stated that he regarded the newspapers as the whole most effective adult educational influence in this country, coupling this with his comment on the necessity of resorting to reason if democracy is to survive.

This statement needs very little amplification, for it is universally recognized that the newspapers of this country devote a great deal of space to the publication of discussions by authorities and others on important social and economic problems and also to announcements of discoveries of value to mankind generally.

Tourists Are Collectors

Hotels Lose Many Different Articles To Souvenir Hunters

Souvenir-hunting, and not a desire to steal, is accountable for most of the odd thefts by hotel guests, Victoria, B.C., hotelmen claim. Many and varied are the things which disappear. Towels head the list. One hotel estimates out of 15 dozen towels purchased last summer, five dozen already have been carried off. Thirty dozen towels is the average annual loss for a hotel.

Silverware and teaspoons come a close second. Salt shakers and sugar bowls are also popular collectors' pieces. Rarer souvenirs are light bulbs, telephone books, tumblers and Gideon Bibles. Some hotels reported losses of sheets and blankets. One enterprising guest carried away the glass-headed screws which held the mirror in his bathroom.

Finding soap in the bathroom after a guest has left is a pleasant surprise to most hotelmen. Collectors with penchant for room keys are the biggest trouble. Some men have been known proudly to display collections of several dozen keys picked up in hotels.

Women guests, state hotel operators, are more worry than men. Their make-up causes losses which run into high figures. Owners say some brands of lipstick cannot be removed from towels without ruining the material.

Motor Road Under Alps

Plans For Tunnel Have Been Submitted To Swiss Railway

It will be possible to motor under the Alps between Switzerland and Italy through the famous Simplon tunnel if plans submitted to the Swiss railway authorities are carried out.

They provide for the establishment of a motor road through one of the two railway tunnels.

The work of conversion is expected to cost $1,000,000.

It will be necessary to install a complicated ventilating system to dispel gasoline fumes. Sidings will also have to be cut into the sides of the tunnel. The purpose of these is to enable cars which break down to be towed out of the way of the main traffic stream.

The Simplon tunnel, which was built in 1906, links Switzerland and Italy. It is the longest of the tunnels under the Alps, measuring 12½ miles.

Believed Link With Hittites

Relic Found In 4,000-Year-Old Tomb In Asia Minor

What is believed to be the first step toward the discovery of the lost Hittites, who appear in the Bible as a great imperial power, has just been found in Asia Minor. In a 4,000-year-old tomb was discovered a Hittite statue of a bull, seven inches high and inlaid with gold. The silver smith's art is astonishingly modern, and indicates that the race was cultured rather than primitive as previously believed. The discovery has aroused great interest among European archaeologists because previously nothing had been known of the Hittites' work except rock carving and a few potsherds. The relic was exhibited recently in London.

By Way Of Contrast

Of George V. it can be said that he died in peace, loved by his people. A king, says the New York Post, could ask no higher praise in an age that has seen three emperors de-throned, several kings assassinated or exiled and dictators ruling by terror—the dictators themselves terrorized by fear of what their subjects would do to them if they ever got the chance.

Puzzle For Scientists

Vegetation Again Seen On Volcanic Island In Indian Ocean

Scientists are puzzled over the return of vegetable, animal, and insect life to Krakatoa Island, a barren lava stretch for many years following a volcanic eruption. Dr. Diamond Jenness, anthropologist of the Dominion Museum, Ottawa, said at Victoria, B.C., on his return from a five eastern voyage.

Krakatoa's eruption occurred near the end of the last century and the island left above the Indian ocean was a smoking waste. The top was blown off the mountain, and the ensuing tidal wave which swept the Malay coast and East Indies caused more than 30,000 deaths.

"Trees and other vegetation now grow in profusion," said Dr. Jenness, "and insects and animals have returned to the islands."

He said he was impressed by the progress in Java, which he also visited. It had become modernized under Dutch rule, with excellent railroads, air service, and roads.

Java produces 85 per cent. of the world's quinine supply, he said, and agriculture is its sole industry. More than 500,000 Chinese are included in its 40,000,000 population.

Highway Crossing Accidents

Collisions Between Automobiles and Trains Show Increase

Accidents at highway crossings in 1935 involving collision between motor vehicles and trains totalled 213 compared with 182 for 1934, a report of the board of railway commissioners announced.

Of the 1935 figures, 61 accidents were instances in which motor vehicles ran into sides of trains, involving 13 persons killed and 90 injured, compared with 55 accidents of a like nature in 1934 in which seven were killed and 76 injured.

Took Secrets With Him

Man Who Trapped Spies During War Is Dead

A man who was one of the masterminds behind Britain's anti-spy system during the War has died, carrying with him many of his secrets. He was Hugh Clelland Hoy, private secretary to Sir Reginald Hall, director of Naval Intelligence in the most fateful days of 1914-1918. He died in Charing Cross Hospital, London, from gangrene induced by a form of hardening of the arteries from which he had suffered for about two years. He was 59.

Working in 40 O.B., a room in the old Admiralty building whose existence was unknown to the outside world, Mr. Hoy and his colleagues gathered into their fingers all the webs of intrigue and espionage which Germany had spun across Britain—gathered them and snapped them, one by one.

Not until years after the War was the veil partly lifted from that secret room. In the book "40 O.B.," published in 1932, Mr. Hoy told for the first time some of the story of those days and nights of intrigue and counter-intrigue. But in this work he wrote: "I have been obliged to omit many startling and exciting matters. I have had to remember—and also to forget."—Overseas Daily Mail.

DINNER ROLLS

- 2 cups Basic Sponge
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 4 tablespoons softened shortening
- 1 egg well beaten
- 4 cups flour (approx.)
- 1 cup milk

To the Basic Sponge, add salt, sugar, shortening, milk and egg. Stir well and add flour enough to knead smooth. Cover well and allow to stand in warm place until double in bulk (about 1½ hours). Knead and form into rolls. Place apart on greased pan and allow to rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven for about 25 minutes.

A Rare Operation

Blood Sponged From Patient's Lung Used For Transfusion

A rare operation in which the victim of a stab wound in the heart was saved by his own blood was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The blood was sponged from the victim's lung cavity, and was then injected into his veins in a manner similar to the usual transfusion. Two Pittsburgh physicians, who described the case for the Journal—Dr. Charles M. Watson and Dr. James R. Watson—said it was the first of its kind in medical annals.

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve the plan, but was really opposed to it, had forced Buzz Torrey, a devilish mining engineer, whom Kilgo knew would be called upon to give his expert opinion in favor of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that irrigation in Boone County so far as Fleming's plan was concerned was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting terminated, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he accuses, ruin his "spread." Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is uninjured. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torrey to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

(Now Go On With The Story)

He avoided her glowing eyes. "I don't know if we could raise the money. And suppose somebody hurt you? I'd never forgive myself."

The visitor cleared his throat. But she turned on him, drawing herself to full height. "Mr. Berrens, your offer is not acceptable because Link—Mr. Fleming—has already agreed to build the dam. He has made a contract."

"A contract?"

She eyed Berrens a moment, then slowly turned back to Link. "You gave your word. Isn't that as good as anything written?"

"Sure it is. But—"

"Your word to join me in building the dam. What if we do have to wait till Spring?" she burst out. "You and I talked about this in letters before I came home. We determined to build a dam to prove irrigation will work. Well, you and I became partners. And I won't let you draw out of that, or sell to some company that will do the very thing you want to do to Silver Creek. No sir! Helen cried, and stamped a small foot to the floor until her spurs jingled like the clink of silver in a bag. "We're partners, and partners we stay!"

He raised himself on his elbow. Berrens started to say something but Link's sharp gesture stopped him. There was a new, strange light in his eyes that had not been there before. Despite the shining grease that covered his face, and the total lack of eyelashes or eyebrows, enthusiasm and something deeper, more lasting, dawned in his look.

"Say! I'd sure like to be partners with you a long time after we build—"

His words were drowned in a crash. Dismounted, youth and girl swung to view the bunkhouse window that had been shattered by G. I. V. Berrens' hurtling body. At sound of running steps that entered the bunkhouse, and a stentorian voice that boomed at them, they swung back startled.

"Link!" bawled Sheriff Ames Stephen as he poised, slugs in hand. "I'm after the gent that bought dynamite at Sam Pickett's store yesterday. Yeah, an' a Winchester and slugs too. Gold teeth in his face; short, wears a coat like a hoss blanket. I bet he's the hombre shot Torney and mebbe salted yore stove! Where'd he go?"

Seconds ticked away before they comprehended. Fleming crawled painfully out of his bunk to stand swaying dizzily. "The window, Sheriff! And—and goah, get him! I'm depending on you, Ames! Get the lobo, 'cause we sure don't want him loose when we build that dam!"

CHAPTER VIII.

Three men who leaned indolently against the sheetrock front of Sam Pickett's general store in Rawhide exchanged significant, knowing looks. By common consent they returned their eyes roadward to watch two riders whose mounts trudged with lowered heads through the furry dust of Main Street.

One lank, stubble-chinned loafer fumbled for a match to rekindle his pipe. "Firm o' Hamilton & Fleming's come to town, boys."

A companion shifted his chew and spat into the street. "Can't be they're lackin' money again?" he questioned sarcastically. "Link started out like he'd cornered all the dough in the state. Anyhow, he must've figgered he had enough to throw away a fortune on the engineerin' marvel o' the Goldarn West!"

They chuckled at this wit, their derision carrying plainly to the tall, square shouldered rider. Annoyance flitted across Link's water browned eyes, and he glanced quickly at his companion. But the quiet smile from the shadow of her Stetson's frayed brim was reassuring, tolerant. They ignored the loafers and rode on, at length turning their mounts toward the hitchrail before the one-story clapboard structure whose broad front window was lettered, "Stockmen's Bank of Rawhide."

The easy grace with which Helen Hamilton slid from her saddle did not escape Fleming's admiring gaze, nor the movement of her willowy figure as she stooped under the rack and straightened on the plank sidewalk. In buckskin divided skirt, worn but carefully blacked boots with little spurs jingling as she walked, peaked Stetson, and a pongee blouse, she presented a picture which more than one man in Boone County was prone to view with keen appreciation.

Link dismounted and fastened his horse's reins as she had already fastened those of her pinto. Helen had paused at the window of Irv Lane's jewelry store, and he moved to her side. His interested eyes sought the objects of her attention; several diamond solitaire rings, priced from one hundred to five hundred dollars in front of which rested a card, "Special—20% Off."

Thrusting one hand into his trousers pockets, Link worked a ten and four-one dollar bill into a puppy ball. Hesitantly he indicated a ring whose stone flashed brilliant red and blue dots more vivid than those of its competitors. "That's a nice lookin' one."

She cocked her head to calculate the ring's effectiveness. "Yes. It's the very nicest there."

In the silence that ensued Link's eyes roved the window display downward to Helen's slender, capable left hand at her side. There was a look of sober reflection on his boyish face as he shifted weight. Unexpectedly his eyes met, but fluttered down with instant embarrassment. Fleming's slawey nut-brown fingers crushed the money in his pocket into a harder, smaller sphere.

"That ring'd shore look nice on yore hand," he ventured. "I mean, it wouldn't be half good enough, but it'd look—"

"Well," Link shrugged, "when our dam begins to make alfalfa and stuff grow in that wasteland, maybe Irv Lane'll make a sale." He hesitated, summoning courage. "Would you be—"

Helen tucked a wisp of chestnut hair under her Stetson. Her eyes met his, but sought again the display of jewelry while her cheeks colored swiftly. "I didn't know you felt—I mean, you never said you wanted—"

"Say, it must stick out all over me. I reckon," he added with quick contrition, "I got no right to bring this up until our dam gets finished and we've paid our debts and folks quit sneerin' about Fleming's Folly. Then," he declared, his handsome face softening, "I'll be ridin' over to your Triple H some fine moonlight night. If I can work up the nerve. To ask a sort of a sort of important question."

There was a momentary silence. "I hope everything works out all right, Link. If the Triple H becomes prosperous I want to hire a lawyer to try to persuade the Governor to pardon Buzz. Never a day passes but I think of him in that terrible place." A shudder made her shoulders quiver. "Wouldn't it be wonderful if I could somehow get him out of prison?"

Fleming gave her a sidelong glance. "Reckon it'd please you about as much as anything, wouldn't it? To have Buzz free, so he wouldn't have to serve the rest of his three years."

As boots sounded closed along the hollow sidewalk Link turned, his expression changing to slight displeasure. He nodded to Kilgo, whose round mottled face wore a grin ponderously genial.

"Spent yore dough before you got it, Helen?" he chuckled with comprehension of feminine vanities. "Wal, don't order a truckload o' jewelry unless you charge it to somebody that don't throw away good hard cash backin'. Silver Creek into a lake. 'Course," Roper winked, pausing with feed wide apart and thick thumbs hooked in the cartridge belt he supported his Colt. "I ain't sayin' I wouldn't be glad to foot the bill, at that."

"I wouldn't cut of such a thing," she assured quickly.

He paused with an ironic look at Link. "How's the big dream progressin'?" Or are yuh findin' out it's a nightmare?"

"Fine, thanks," Fleming rolled a cigarette and gazed with patient boredom down the street. "Helen, will you excuse me a minute? I want to speak to the sheriff."

She nodded. The owner of the Box 50 ranch watched him stride away, then chuckled. "Toughy about the dam ain't he? But he'll be tougher when his hull cow-farm goes up in smoke, an' there's a stack

Mothers Approve Guide to Better Control of Colds

Simple Plan Helps Them to Gain Greater Freedom from Colds for Their Families

EASY TO FOLLOW IN THE HOME

Mothers throughout Canada are now helping their families to have fewer, milder and shorter colds—by following the famous Vicks VapoRub Guide to Better Control of Colds.

Developed especially for mothers, this practical Plan represents the 30 years' experience of Vicks Chemists and Medical Consultants in studying colds. It has been tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use from coast to coast.

Here, briefly, are its three simple steps:

1. To Help Build Resistance to Colds Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple food and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take a short, brisk walk—outdoors, preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. To Help Prevent Many Colds At the first warning nasal irritation, sniff or sneeze, use Vicks VapoRub—just a few drops up each nostril. VapoRub is especially designed for the nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, VapoRub helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

3. To Help End a Cold Sooner If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub throat and chest with Vicks VapoRub. VapoRub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster. (2) By inhalation of its penetrating, medicated vapors, direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

What this Plan can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. You'll find full directions for following this Plan in any package of Vicks VapoRub or Vicks VapoBalm.

2 Things to Do TO EASE COLD INSTANTLY

Discomfort and Ache Go Almost Instantly This Way

1. Take two "Aspirin" Tablets. Make sure you get "Aspirin."

2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Instead of taxing your system with strong medicines for a cold, try the way pictured above—the modern, easy way. Your own doctor will approve. And it takes hold of even a bad cold almost immediately. The "Aspirin" you take will start combating your cold internally at once; if throat is sore, crush and stir 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in a third of a glass of water; gargle twice. Do not rinse mouth.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Either the pedestrians are stopping more lively or the motorists are more careful in England where persons injured on roads number 1,200 less last year as compared with 1934.

RHEUMATISM DRIVEN OUT!

It should be realized Rheumatism is not inevitable. If the poisonous acid fluids of the system are kept on the move, thus preventing the formation and deposit of painful crystals, in the joints.

The solvent stimulating action of Phosferin has a marvellous effect in liquefying, dispersing and expelling the harmful acid crystals, and it recharges the tortured and exhausted nerve centres with the energy to restore easy movement to the stiffened joints, and suppleness to pain ridden limbs.

This exclusive property of Phosferin is illustrated by the recent experience of Mrs. E. Brewster, who writes: "For months my husband was in terrible pain with Rheumatism in his feet, walking with agony, until he tried Phosferin, and now all his Rheumatic pain has gone, and he says it is wonderful to walk without any pain." 6, Greek Street, Hull.

The speedy expulsion of Rheumatism is something to be thankful for—start from the saving in time and money, for it means that Phosferin has revitalized the system, regulated the blood pressure, strengthened the stomach and digestion, and maintained perfect health and many happy returns of Activity!

"CHIEF RIDING CALF"

Mr. J. P. Yeend, of Irma, formerly one of the Romilly schoolboys, hands in the following clipping from the South Wales Echo, telling of the trip of the choir to Canada and the U. S.

"Mr. W. M. Williams, conductor of the Romilly Boys' Choir, Barry, who have been touring Canada and the United States, under an educational concert scheme for the past three months, has had the honour of being initiated a member of the same Indian tribe as King Edward VIII, who, when Prince of Wales, visited the settlement and was christened "Chief Morning Star."

Mr. Williams was so honoured as an appreciation by the Indians of the Sarcee Reserve for the singing of the boys, and it was with grand ceremonial that Head Chief Pat Grasshopper and Chief Edward One Spot christened Mr. Williams "Di-dak-ken-is-ta," meaning "Chief Riding Calf," the title of a famous old Indian chief of the buffalo days.

The ceremony was completed by Head Chief Pat Grasshopper placing in own beaded neck-piece around the neck of the much embarrassed Mr. Williams.

At Edmonton the choir boys were met by two former Romilly schoolboys, Messrs. J. P. Yeend, of Irma, formerly of Victoria-road, and Cyril Griffiths, a brother of Captain

SPORTS

On Saturday at Banff the boys and girls who scout around on skis had a lot of fun at the winter sports. Just imagine the thrill of sliding down a two-and-a-half-mile hill, with a drop of almost 1800 feet. Jack Taylor of Vancouver negotiated that in two minutes 5 1/2 seconds. Most people have a bad sensation with the stomach when a fast-moving elevator takes its descent. But to follow Jack Taylor on that hill, would require more than just courage.

The Canadian Olympic hockey team by losing that one game to England, lost the world honors that goes with the series of games. And for the first time permitted Canada to step out of Creighton Griffiths, Barry.

Also among the company at the first concert was Mr. Dugan, Llan-drindod Wells, who is opposition leader to the Social Credit leader in the Alberta parliament.

It was at the little village of Morley near the Rockies, that the choir joined 300 Indians and chiefs in a service in commemoration of the late King George V, the boys and Indians singing hymns alternately.

the picture. Playing in exhibition games since they have won 12 straight games, proving they have a really good bunch of players.

Probably the most noted of sports writers in Canada, Lou Marsh, did this week in Toronto. He was active in many of the sports he wrote about, acting as referee in many a boxing bout, and willing to trade punches too with any unruly boys in the ring. His "Pick and Shovel" column in the Star had many readers, for at times Lou must have written with a red-hot pen on asbestos. He was a manly sportsman, standing for all that was good and uplifting in every line of sport.

Dizzy Dean is still holding out for that $40,000.00. The man who holds the purse strings was presented with this argument yesterday, "If Dizzy is just half as good as Babe Ruth, then he ought to get the forty, for Ruth used to get eighty."

For the seventh time in the ten-year history of the Brier play-off, Manitoba won the top honors. Alberta came in second. Does Manitoba play a different style of game? How come those chaps have such an edge on all the rest of Canada? Down east they used to speak so lovingly of their "draw-games." West of the lakes, they "chap and lie" but they sure can draw too when that is needed.

They Also Need Help

(Edmonton Bulletin)
Having bonused pool farmers up to 60 cents a bushel for the wheat they sold in 1930, it is difficult to see why the Dominion Government refuses to do the same for non-pool farmers.
The grain trade is an intricate business, and there may be reasons why that cannot be safely done, but they are not readily apparent.

That it would take $3,000,000 to pay the bonuses is not an argument against paying them. Non-pool western farmers who sold wheat in 1930 at less than 60 cents a bushel lost money they were no better able to do without than pool farmers. And they are quite as much in need of money now to buy seed and cover the cost of putting in another crop.
